The 49'ers Present

The Guide

*Copyright 1949
Ashland High School

We, the '49ers, through our four years of high school have been both impressed and inspired by the sparkling personality and capability of one who has been a friend as well as a leader.

His spirit of teamwork, evident both on the playing field and in the class room, his unselfish participation in curricular and extra-curricular activities, his friendliness in the halls—these are but a few of the qualities which make us proud to dedicate this yearbook to Paul L. Sherck and wish him still brighter prospects for the future.

Foreword

To each of us who have spent many years seeking our "gold," this book is an accumulation of ideas, ambitions, and accomplishments.

Just as the 49'ers sought their gold a hundred years ago, Ashland High's 49'ers have also been searching for that intangible "something."

Graduation, their "gold," is but a single word and yet a twelve-year task. For many, their accomplishments end with their school career while others will engrave their accomplishments across the log of life.

When years have passed, personal goals will have changed but as memories never change, we present a past view and a pre-view of the 49'ers search for their "gold."

In 1849 many people became successful over night. They discovered gold! Now just one hundred years later a group of students have discovered gold, too. Although it has taken them four years to do this, they have panned many lumps along the way.

In our freshman year we chose our sites and settled down to mining. We got off to a good start with algebra and Latin.

The second year we dug into biology and geometry. We began to enter into more activities and near the end of this year we chose a cabinet to represent us in our junior year.

That year we were bound to strike gold! We held class meetings, selected our rings, and studied hard, but still no gold. Still searching, we presented our junior class play, "Dear Ruth." On May 28, 1948, we discovered GOLD when we planned and presented "Opus in Pastels" for the Seniors.

In the fall of '48 we continued the "Gold Rush" hoping to make it in '49. We began to process our little "lumps" which we had discovered. We polished these lumps of knowledge, leadership, and character. They became shiny nuggets which shined their brightest in athletics, dramatics, organizations, music, and in the classrooms. Success has come the hard way for many of us and the easy way for others, but we have all made it. In June we will receive our reward and our last nugget of gold—the most brilliant of all—our diploma at graduation.

The processing has been a hard task, but Ashland High School is proud to present its latest discovery of gold—the 49'ers.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1949

We, the members of the class of 1949, of Ashland High School, city of Ashland, state of Ohio, being the age of four years and few brains and seeing the end in sight, hereby dispose of all property true, false, and otherwise, which we may possess at the time of our graduation, do make public and declare this to be our last will and testimony in the following manner:

ARTICLE I — To the faculty members of Ashland High School, we make the following bequests:

- Item 1. To Miss Sprague, a new crop of students to break in for better or for worse.
- Item 2. To Mr. Todd, at least one smart student.
- Item 3. To Mr. Boyd, a singing lesson every Saturday.
- Item 4. To Miss Foust, another set of 135 problems but easier than we turned out to be.
- Item 5. To the coaches: Taylor, Rampelt, Sherck, and Plank, memories of the good old days. Period!
- Item 6. (a) To Mr. Jameson, a softer chair.
(b) To Mr. Gorsuch, a rocking chair.
(c) To Mr. Hartzler a higher chair.
(d) To the deans—Miss Smith and Mr. Paxton—no chairs at all.

ARTICLE II — To individual members of the student body, we bequeath the following:

- Item 1. To Biddie Gay Fritz, one complete thoroughly tested and guaranteed set of April Fool Jokes to try out on her teachers next year.
- Item 2. Bill Brownson's ancient Reo to John Bahas in case the Buick breaks down.
- Item 3. Speros Karas' gavel to Dudley Riggle, so he, too, can try his luck with the Senior Council.
- Item 4. Carol Witmer's figure to—but no there's not enough of it.
- Item 5. Dick Cumberland's giggle to some deserving he-man.
- Item 6. Dave Johnson's and Trula Quong's mental ability to other less fortunate students.
- Item 7. Bill Steven's and Rachelle Otter's empty window sill to any couple who can use it to the same advantage.
- Item 8. To any one who can solve it, Bud Summerton's and Bob Sears' problem—which twin has the Toni?

ARTICLE III

- Item 1. We would like to leave the Senior Girls, but since so many of them have already left, we're leaving, too.
- Item 2. We would like to leave the Senior Boys in hopes they will grow older and act their age, but it's impossible.
- Item 3. To those couples who are going steady, engaged, or otherwise, we leave the wish for the happiest future.
- Item 4. To the Girl Reserves, we leave some boys!
- Item 5. To the Hi-Y and Koda Klubs, we leave some girls!
- Item 6. To the Guide Staff, we leave a T-square and a pot of glue with one reminder "Watch Those Thumbs!"
- Item 7. To Dr. Pete, the band, orchestra and choir, we leave our notes—both sweet and sour.

ARTICLE IV

- Item 1. To the Freshmen we leave the motto "Have no fears, you'll live!"
- Item 2. To the Sophomores we leave not dreams nor hopes, but the reality of only two more long years ahead.
- Item 3. To the Juniors, we leave our place, empty as it is now for you to fill in your own stumbling way.
- Item 4. To the Faculty we leave our "Thanks" for pulling us through even if we did pull you down.

Now as we pass through the corridors for the last time as students, we hear the laughter and the tears; talk of play and thoughts of work and suddenly we realize that they cannot see us for we are no longer here—yet our memories linger forever.

After five years of prospecting for their "gold," the class of 1950 has made some truly noteworthy claims.

To these "oldtimers" striving toward graduating might seem unending work. Yet only a bare three hundred and sixty-four days remain until this one ultimate goal is reached.

Through the years these claims to dreams and hopes of success of "gold," have become those of over two hundred people.

Once, they were in the seventh grade scurrying through the halls as frightened mice; learning traditions and formulating these same dreams.

On they went into the haven of the eighth grade; into the mysteries of Latin; then—oh, to be a sophomore!

As juniors, they worked hard and successfully presented the class play, "The Thirteenth Chair"; they found places for some of their classmates in the class poll, while others achieved positions on the Panorama Staff, the Honor Roll, the Scholarship Team, and in clubs. The Junior-Senior Prom, one of the most beautiful and most looked-forward-to events of the year, was their accomplishment.

Now they stand ready to take up their prospecting implements for another year—their last year to complete their claims as graduates of Ashland High School.

WHAT NEXT

Ellen Ann Bennett, a member of the freshman class, after a long illness, died on January 11, 1949. Courageously she came to school, often when she was too ill to do so, in order that she would be as others. On a Friday noon she left school never realizing that she would not return. Ellen Ann tried to return that noon, but she could not.

Ellen Ann was active in music and athletics. She was a member of the Junior Choir and the Senior Orchestra. She played on the Junior Navy All-Star team and was a member of the Junior G. A. C. She was also a Student Senator for two years.

"Service with a smile," despite aching feet and other troubles of the sales person, might well be the theme of the distributive education students.

One of thirty-five D. E. organizations in Ohio, this group has become well known around Ashland through its twenty-nine students working part time in retail stores.

Most of the students are going to school on a schedule which allows them to be at work by 1:30 or 2:30 each afternoon. Practically a novice course in A. H. S., distributive education has been part of the curriculum for four years.

Juniors are chosen for this course on the basis of ten points among which are an aptitude test, attendance, recommendations of former employers, teachers, etc.

Members of the D. E. class are also members of the Future Retailers of Ohio and have regular meetings once a month. Outside speakers and home talent are both featured at these meetings.

In the past few years the D. E. students have sponsored a successful all-school Valentine Dance. They also honor their employers at a banquet in the spring.

Ushers

HEAD USHER, DOLORES ECHELBERGER

Last year at 7:15 on the night of the Senior class play, fourteen new ushers gathered in the auditorium, listened carefully to instructions from Mr. McDowell and thus began their duties that were to last during commencement week and throughout their Senior year.

Efficiently the ushers seat guests of the auditorium, pass out programs, and politely maintain order. All ushers must be dependable and well-mannered, have outstanding characters, and maintain pleasant personalities.

Attractively dressed in aqua uniforms, they cheerfully greet you and graciously show you to your seat.

The lights are dimmed, the curtain goes up, and thus starts one of the productions by Troup Twenty-nine of Ashland High School.

School assemblies, open house in 216, and the hit of the year in the auditorium are the stages for these shows.

Not only do Thespians learn to act, but also they learn how to make good appearances, to speak, and to apply make-up properly. Every Thespian has had experience in prop hunting and the stage setting.

By work in the various arts of the theater, a student can gain membership in this national organization. Points are awarded according to the adeptness of the work done.

Spending every night at hard work for three to four weeks before show time, each and every Thespian knows how important it is that "The show must go on."

On April 1, "Torchbearers," a hilarious comedy, was presented by Thespian Troupe 29. Miss Betty Bartlett, who directed the production, was assisted by Patricia Boeh and Ruth Spies.

The play revolved around Mrs. Ritter, who against her husband's better judgment attempted to become an actress. She was highly encouraged by Mrs. Pampinelli, a amateur director, and her assistants Nelly Fell and Mr. Spindler. Mrs. Ritter took Clara Sheppard's place in the amateur production when Mr. Sheppard suddenly died after learning that his wife was to have the leading role opposite Mr. Hossefrosse.

Entanglements and troubles unwound themselves into a successful and interesting play—one where everything comes out right in the end.

OH, MY POOR HUSBAND; HE DIED!

Senior

Will the meeting please come to order? Promptly at 7:30 the first and third Monday of every month the Senior Girl Reserves hold their meetings. At the beginning of each meeting devotions are read by various members of the club, then the secretary calls a roll of over sixty girls. Committee reports are given and it is through these committees that the year's program is carried out.

Creating a friendly spirit among the younger girls in the school was the job of the service committee.

Through the efforts of the social committee the girls again held a formal dance which for many years had been discontinued. During the Christmas holiday season a "potluck" was enjoyed by everyone. The last social function and last meeting of the year was a farewell picnic at Brookside Park.

The program committee planned an excellent calendar for the year concerning life after graduation. Through such speakers as Mr. Ballou, Mr. Gorsuch, Mr. Dallas, Miss Amstutz, and Mrs. Mosher, problems of the home, marriage, college, professions, and the world were explained and discussed. In addition to the above, the traditional Easter Assembly was planned by the committee and it was a job well done.

Members of the music committee lead the girls in singing "Follow the Gleam" at the close of each meeting. The words of this beautiful hymn express perfectly the purpose behind the Girl Reserve Club.

To over sixty junior girls the word "candle" represents one of the main service organizations in the school—the Junior Girl Reserves.

Although the expression is trite, it is still true that "The Girl Reserves perform many noteworthy services to the community." Boxes are packed to send overseas through the Red Cross as well as those that are shipped through CARE. This organization aids in other local drives made throughout the year.

The social activities reached their height in February when the girls joined with the Senior Girl Reserves and held a formal dance. A box social, Christmas party, and a farewell picnic were among the year's festivities.

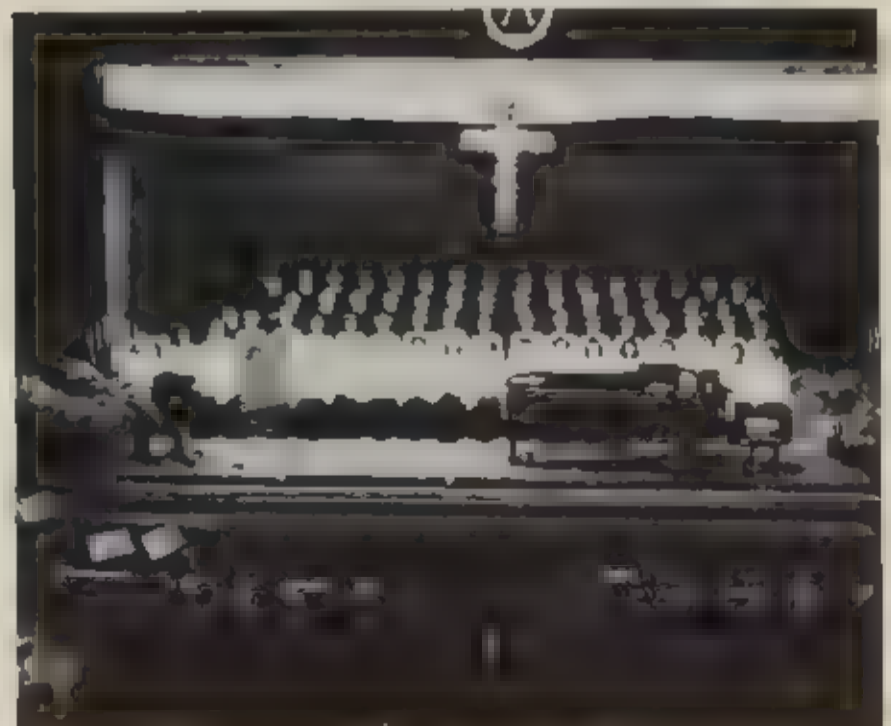

Part of the Christmas celebration in the school is the inspiring and important Christmas assembly sponsored by the Junior Girl Reserves. The program begins with the traditional candle light procession of all the members.

All these things help the Junior Girl Reserves in "reaching toward the best."

The who, why, where, and what for's of the school year are depicted in the pages through the efforts of the 1949 Guide Staff.

From sweat, tears, and shouts of joy; from mere scribbling into a finished product, appears the Guide.

Commanding the staff, Editor-in-Chief Dick Minesinger held all responsibility. Business Manager Norma Woelfling was the official penny stretcher while Mr. Dwain Murray had the last crack as faculty advisor. All copy was checked by Miss Nadine Butler.

Sketches are the fugitives from the imagination of Gaynor Burns, Art editor. Photography was handled by Chuck Finley.

Organizational copy fell under the pens of Dolores Echelberger and Joyce Furrow, literary editors.

Crazy and zany features were passed to Judy Robertson and Barney Dilgard, feature editors.

Sports copy dribbled in to Martha Hurst and Trula Quong on the feminine team with Doug Shilliday and Don Wagner fighting for the men.

Co-ordinating from posing for pictures to pasting up, was the task of Rosemary Wiles, Bill Brownson, Carol McCool, Ruth Hathaway, Rosemary Kohout, and Doris Kreider.

Clack! Clack! Trills the typewriter in 115 as the copy for the Panorama gushes forth.

Presenting the news of interest to students and faculty is a full-time job for the advanced journalism students who put out the Panorama.

Besides helping with the publishing of the Panorama, the first year journalism students put out a "School News" column daily in the Times-Gazette.

The Panorama editions from the second semester last year received the highest All-American Superior rating from the National Scholastic Press Association.

Cracking the whip to make things print is Mr. Hammill Hartman, faculty advisor. Pushing out the paper this year are:

PANORAMA STAFF CLICKS

Senior

If you happen to walk down one of Ashland High's corridors some evening and hear a group of boys talking about food—it is probably the Senior Hi-Y.

These junior and senior boys not only like to eat, but a potluck is simply a "must" on their year's schedule.

Although the club has its potlucks, parties, and game nights, it is always ready to lend a helping hand not only to the seventh grade boys in their "Little Brother" plan, but in anything else which takes a great deal of work.

One of the year's main projects is the Thanksgiving Assembly which requires intense industriousness on the part of the boys. Another is the unforgettable formal which the Hi-Y and Koda Klub hold each spring.

Junior Hi-Y

"Great oaks from little acorns grow" and some day this group of serious minded boys will be honor citizens of the world. Even before this they will be members of the Sr. Hi-Y, which is their goal at the present.

Organized around the same standards and purposes as those of the Senior Club, there are thirty members in the organization. These fortunate freshmen and sophomore boys enjoy game nights, round-table discussions, feature speakers and pot-lucks. Throughout the school year they try to carry out their ideals of clean living, clean speech, clean scholarship, and clean sportmanship.

On February fourth, many of the fellows attended the annual Hi-Y-Koda Klub Formal held in the boys gym.

PATROLMAN RIDDLE SPEAKS

Koda Klub

"Eat, drink, (milk, that is) and be merry" is the second motto of the Koda Klub. The first and by far the most important is: "To create a friendly attitude and a spirit of cooperation among the boys and to train its members to be of service to the school and community."

However, aside from guarding and selling at football games, helping to put up and take down election booths in the spring, and conducting round tables for personal betterment, the boys find plenty of time to throw numerous potlucks throughout the year.

The Koda Klub and Hi-Y formal dance held in the Spring is the most important social event on the program.

Like a combination of work and fun? Why not join the Art Club.

Senior high students with even a slight inclination toward any type of art work are welcome into the organization.

One well-known project of this group is the annual Christmas display in front of the school each Yuletide.

Culture on the artistic side is one main study of the club. When the group dances, eats, and paints, social culture is practiced as well as preached.

Spanish Club

"Si, si, senores, senoritas"—yes, yes, boys and girls in senior high who are interested in Spanish can join the Club del Espanol.

Not only does this organization promote a better understanding of Spanish customs and peoples, but the club has also given a clearer conception of the Spanish course to the students.

During the year the group has had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Phillip Nolte, former exchange student from Argentina, and Mrs. Joe Commisso, an Ashland College student who spent some time in South America; of having a potluck; of having a Christmas party; and of sponsoring a masquerade dance in February.

In former years the Spanish club has been a very small organization but this year the club boasted 45 members.

Reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic are only a few of the things sophomore, junior, and senior members of the F. T. A. must know.

Formed to better acquaint students with the educational field, the club is the newest organization in Ashland High.

Regular meetings are often held in private homes with guest speakers on different phases of education. The Future Teachers also have less-school-like moments such as the candlelight initiation service, potlucks, and special occasion parties. This organization sent two representatives to the N. E. O. T. A. Convention in Cleveland to act as ushers in Public Auditorium.

Ashland's chapter of Future Teachers is moving toward the top of the 600 clubs now organized in Ohio.

It is said that "too many cooks spoil the broth." This, however, is not the case when the gals in the F. H. A. get together. Many teachers and students of A. H. S. have found themselves outside the door of the home economics department, lured there by the tantalizing aromas escaping from within.

This club is open to any girl in grades nine through twelve. To be a member the girl must have one year of home economics.

Organized to teach girls more about home-making and the importance of caring for their possessions and personal appearance, the club has, by now, impressed most Future Homemakers of America with the importance of the proverb, "A stitch in time saves nine."

The College Club was started when a group of girls met in their home rooms to discuss the problems encountered when entering college. Soon the club was organized and held two regular meetings on the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

This last year the membership, which includes only Juniors and Seniors, reached a grand total of eighty-one. The club enjoyed and appreciated the guidance given by representatives from the numerous colleges and universities throughout the state. These talks were concerned chiefly with the curriculum, activities, tuition, and advantages of their respective schools.

Each member is interviewed privately by the advisor, Miss Franz, in order to help him select the school which best fits his needs. Applications for entrance are then sent to the selected school.

Senior Girl's

The whistle blows starting one of the many games played every night after school in the girl's gymnasium. These games include soccer, hikes, volleyball, basketball, recreational sports, and softball.

Despite aching muscles, bruised shins, and jammed fingers this club provides healthful recreation for any girl in the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades.

Three times a year "A" awards are presented to those girls who have succeeded in earning six hundred points. To have an "A" is the ambition of every girl. For the most, this award means five years of hard work, but this is forgotten when at last you walk down the hall with an "A" on your sweater.

For several years the organization did not have a dance but this year the social spotlight cast a bright light on the annual dance given by the G. A. C.

One, two, three, kick—one, two, three, kick. No, this isn't a conga line, but it is the Jr. G. A. C. beginning the year with kickball. The girls also play basketball, softball, and this year they were introduced to a new game—volleyball. The game was entered wholeheartedly by every player and each girl is looking forward to playing volleyball next year.

As a younger sister to the Senior Club, the Jr. G. A. C. is one of the largest clubs in the school with an enrollment of 80 girls.

Soon after receiving membership in the group, the girls learn the importance of earning that "A." So, from the beginning they play hard to make first teams. Fifty points are awarded to first team members and twenty-five points to those on second teams. Two hundred points can be earned in a year; six hundred points are needed to win an "A." By the looks of the record, many girls will be presented an "A" in the years to come.

Besides the taking of the pictures, developing and printing are also part of their jobs. The preparation of pictures for the Guide and the Panorama is their most important assignment of the year. This means attending every activity in the high school from athletic contests to formal dances.

Their jobs are great and many, but success is theirs as you can see throughout the pages of this book.

VARSITY

With the return of only three letter men—Ray Bates, Dick Scott, and Howard Fackler—to the varsity this year, the hopes for a successful season were very low. They were lowered even more when first string fullback, Howard Fackler, broke his ankle in a pre-season scrimmage. In their first game, with Willard, the A's were edged 7-6. A week later mighty Fremont thumped them 28-7. Canton South followed with a 33-0 victory and Sandusky then took the field, winning 34-6. The next game was a bright spot for the A's as they ran over Shelby 26-0 for victory number one. The next three games proved to be disastrous as they were downed by Wooster, 34-6; Marion, 19-7; and Oberlin, 7-0. In the latter the A's were hampered greatly by a driving rain. Determined not to end the season with only one victory they edged Galion in the final game 20-19 after trailing 7-19 at the half. Although the A's didn't have a winning season, Coach Taylor lauded their fine spirit and cooperation.

At the Football Banquet, Phil Lersch was selected as the team's most valuable player.

Regardless of their record of two wins and five losses for the season, the J. V.'s have produced some promising material for next year's varsity. The squad consisted of nineteen freshmen and fourteen sophomores. The sophomores will be used for reserve strength on the varsity next year and a few of the better players will be used to replace the seniors who graduate this year.

When a promising player shows up on the J. V. squad he is usually moved up to the varsity. Therefore, the J. V. team is composed of inexperienced players trying to learn the fundamentals of football. Because of this, the action of the J. V. team is more for the purpose of learning and not unfavorable criticizing.

From the viewpoint of material produced and the fact that most other schools use their varsity reserves in Jr. Varsity games, the J. V.'s had a successful season.

Finishing the season with fourteen wins and one loss, the J. V.'s turned in one of the best records in Ashland High School history. During the season they compiled a total of 655 points while holding their opponents to 484 points.

This is Coach Rampelt's second year with the J. V. squad. During these two years his teams have won 25 games while losing only 8—a record which will be difficult to surpass.

The Junior A's only setback this year came, after ten straight victories, at the hands of the Mansfield J. V.'s, 48-28. The little A's had previously beaten Mansfield, 35-28.

The J. V. squad not only produced a very fine team this year, but it has also developed and will send some very promising players to next year's varsity.

With the return of only one letterman, Philip Lersch, from last year's varsity, Ashland's basketball fans were feeling mighty low. It looked as if the A's were in for a terrible season. But when the regular season was over and the record book disclosed that Ashland had won twelve and lost six, the fans were singing a new song. From there the A's went on to win their first tournament game from Crestline easily. Then Mansfield ended all their hopes by defeating the A's for the third time in the same season. When the all-tournament team was chosen, Doug Shilliday was selected for the first team and Paul Jones was placed on the second team.

Much credit must be given to Coach C. E. Taylor for the fine showing of the team. His first string was made up of the following boys: Captain Phil Lersch, the only returning letterman; Doug Shilliday, an all-county choice in his sophomore year at Hayesville; Norm Mc-

The golf team, coached by Hank Rampelt, got off to a flying start this year and will probably enjoy a very successful season. With the return of practically the same team which he had last year, Coach Rampelt may take full credit for the team's success. He can expect a reasonably good season next year also since these same boys will be back again.

As in most of the other sports this year, the baseball team had to start anew as there were no returning lettermen to form the nucleus for this season's team. Also starting for the first time was Bud Plank, who took over the coaching position this spring.

With the handicap of very little experience dogging them most of the season, the team didn't finish with such a good record as far as winning games is concerned. However, all the boys had a very good time playing and learning the fundamentals of baseball, which is what really counts.

The majority of the team this year were underclassmen; therefore there will be a good supply of experienced players for next year's varsity.

With the season half gone, the record of the track squad does not show any trend. Whether we shall be on the winning or losing side of the ledger is uncertain. The record books show two wins, two losses, and a second place in a triangular meet.

There is one thing, however, which is certain. This edition of the A's will have its share of record holders. Dick Haffner has already broken the discus record twice, and several others have almost been broken.

This year Coach Taylor has been stressing relays considerably, because the A's lack a standout dash man. The distances are fair, but their strong point is field events.

As the season progresses the A's will probably grow stronger since several key men reported late, and because nine lettermen are returning from last year's successful team.

Ahoy! The Navy has landed.

Contrary to rule, this Navy did not have to scrub decks or climb riggings. Their main objective was to practice making foul shots and field goals and to learn new plays in order to defeat the Army team.

Dressed in regulation blue and white, the team was composed of three seniors, four juniors, and two sophomores. There were only two previous All-Stars on this team.

Despite the fact that the team was beaten by score, they were not beaten in spirit. Some day the tide will turn and the Navy All-Stars will again reign victorious.

"Golly, it's 7:00 and time for All-Star practice. Tomorrow is the big night. We'll have to make this practice count!"

It seems that the Army made every one of its practices count because on the big night the soldiers again held the upper hand. For the third year in succession they have handed defeat to the Navy.

They took the lead early in the first period and kept it the whole way. Only once did the sailors threaten, when they came within two points of the soldiers' score.

The Army varied somewhat from regular khaki and wore red and gray uniforms. There were five seniors and four juniors on the squad. Four previous All-Stars composed part of the nine.

The Army is looking for another victory next year, but they know too well, that all good things must end.

The first sports scheduled on the G. A. C. calendar were soccer and hikes. For the first time soccer was played at Brookside Park.

To start the indoor sports, volleyball and bowling came next on the calendar. Bowling is the newest of our sports. This year the volleyball players were tested to determine first teams.

After Christmas vacation, the girls anxiously looked forward to basketball. It has been classified many times as the most popular sport of Come Spring, as we glanced at the calendar once again, we saw that it was time for "those anticipated hikes?" and for a new sport to begin—softball. Every year the girls race down to Myers Field to play the last sport of the year.

Many bruises have been felt, most muscles have gone through the stiffening stage, and many a girl has eaten a cold supper; but it has been worth the time spent not only for the fun, but for the knowledge of sportmanship and the development of ability and effort.

For those girls who feel they have not had enough physical activity during school, an after-school program has been employed. Besides physical recreation, social recreation is also enjoyed within this club.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

November 19, 1949

On November 19 the Junior Class presented "The Thirteenth Chair," a mystery in three acts. Miss Betty Bartlett directed the production assisted by Gaynor Burns.

The play revolved around Rosalie LaGrange, a trance medium, who outwitted Phillip Mason a clever murderer. Mason's victim was Edward Wales. The murder took place at the home of Roscoe and Alica Crosby who were giving a party for their son Will and his fiancée, Helen O'Neil. Conducting the investigation were Inspector Donahue and Mike Dunn.

HOMECOMING

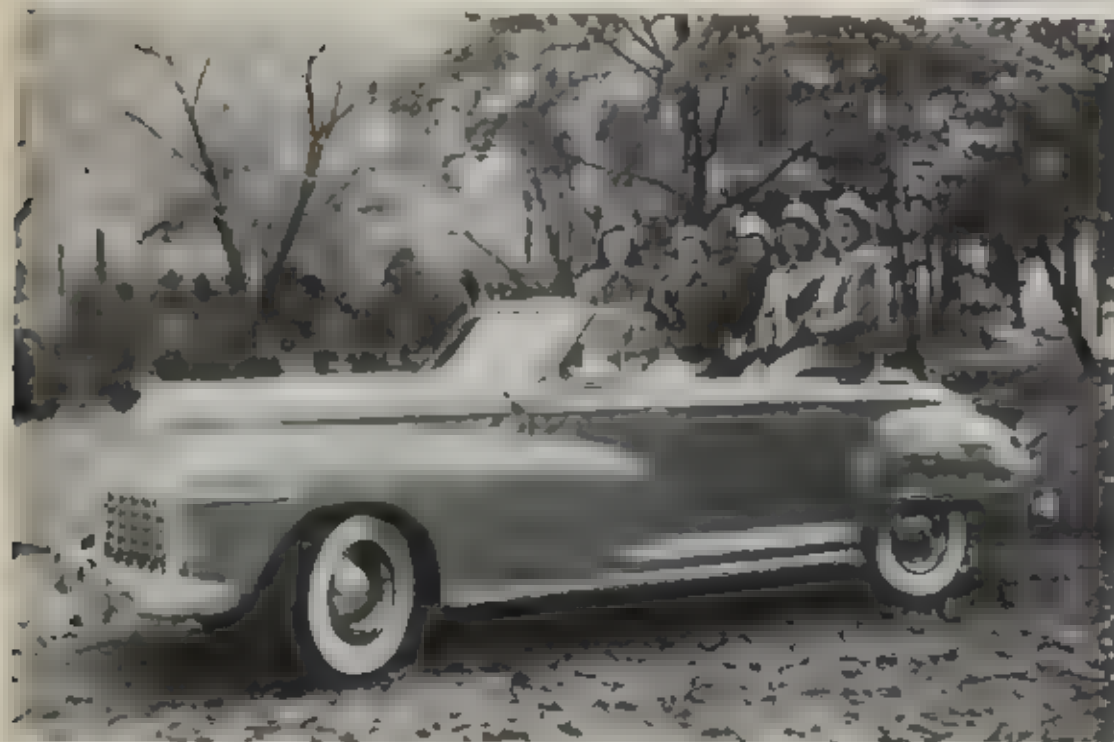

November 5, 1948

While almost every girl dreams of being a queen, Carol McFadden, blonde, brown-eyed senior, achieved this goal. By vote of the Senior class, she was chosen to reign over the Homecoming game on Friday, November fifth.

Feted by fanfares, Queen Carol and her four senior attendants were presented to the team and the spectators before the game. Football captain Dick Scott did the official honors as pictured. After all—a girl is queen only once!

ROMAN BANQUET

April 4, 1949

Food, speeches, and grape juice combined to make the Roman banquet in April an entertaining evening for all Latin students and faculty guests in attendance.

The students came clothed in the old Roman style of togas and stoles composed of sheets, towels, or any other handy material. Some of the first year Latin students served as slaves for their approximately eighty fellow Romans.

The banquet was under the direction of Miss Sarah Smith and Miss Helen Rickel, High School Latin instructors.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

May 27, 1949

The Senior Class presented "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" on May 27. This delightful comedy was directed by Miss Betty Bartlett who was assisted by Janet Myers and Constance Green.

Cornelia Skinner, a nineteen year old girl with dramatic ambitions, and her friend Emily Kimbrough, naive yet witty, take a trip abroad and also take the audience on a laughter-crammed voyage into unbelievable situations.

Cupid hits Leo with a sharp pain when he meets Cornelia and from then on it takes Leo's pal Dick and Emily to really keep things going.

All seventeen members of the cast did a good job from the first kiss to the last laugh.

SWEET NINETEEN AND JUST BEEN KISSED.

Cheerleaders

Five cheerleaders—three new and two retained from last year—took over the job of seeing that our teams got the encouragement needed to obtain victory.

The cheerleaders also have a new advisor and director, Miss Russell who meets frequently with them to compose new cheers, practice the old ones, and to plan successful rallies.

In orange sweaters over black skirts, the cheerleaders capably lead the students in clever and spirited cheers.
